SORLIE LEADS IN N. P. TALK FOR GOVERNOR

Grand Forks Man Most Frequently Mentioned Candidate Throughout State

OTHER CANDIDATES

Begin to Bob as Time Nears For Convention to be Held Here February 6

With county conventions out of the way, Nonpartisan League members today began their discussion of candidates for various state offices in real earnest. They will be nominated at the state convention here February 6.

The convention was originally called for February 6 because the league expected to take action on the national contest—consider whether it would endorse any candidate, or set of delegates and electors. Roy Frazier's state committee meeting threatened to spike the guns of the league in this respect but the fight over Coolidge has broken out afresh. Among the questions expected to be before the league at their state convention are:

- Election of a new state committee. Attitude on presidential candidates.
- Nomination of state ticket.
- Plans for membership drive.
- The old League factory camp.
- Over-discussion plan of raising accommodation notes given by farmers.
- Methods of attack on the state administration.
- Drive for new weekly newspaper.
- Whether to enter local campaign fights.
- Proposed hail law changes of Commissioner of Insurance S. A. Olness.
- The most discussed candidate for Governor is A. G. Sorlie of Grand Forks. Sorlie is a business man, reputed to have made much money in the coal and wood business and other enterprises, including grain. He is a Scandinavian and declared to have been a consistent supporter of the league. He is willing to run.

The name of B. F. Baker of Renville county, state senator and former candidate for Governor, is frequently mentioned. It would not be surprising to many leagueurs if the convention again sought to name Baker as its standard bearer.

The name of A. F. Krauel of Chisago, Traill county, has been mentioned in league circles as a possible candidate for Governor. While Mr. Krauel has been regarded here as an opponent of the league and his friends do not place reliance in the rumors, they have caused some food for political gossip.

Many others have been mentioned in connection with the coming convention's action, including Commissioner of Insurance S. A. Olness, William Langer, Roy Frazier, Ralph Ingerson, Chris Levang and Frank Milhollan, expected to stand for election as a candidate for the railroad commission, has been mentioned for Governor.

H. A. Asaker of Grand Forks has been endorsed there as a candidate for Secretary of State. Walter Madson of Mountrail county is regarded as a possibility. State Auditor D. C. Pindexter undoubtedly will be renominated although A. J. Lah of Carvon has announced himself as a candidate. C. A. Fisher of Valley City, whose wife is a member of the league state committee, has been endorsed in his home county as a candidate for state treasurer. Rep. Frank Vogel, Coleraba banker, has been reported as willing to take this nomination. All members of the railroad commission are expected to be renominated by the league. All it is understood, are willing to accept the nomination. Commissioner of Insurance S. A. Olness has declined to make any statement of his attitude. The term of Chief Justice H. A. Bronson of the supreme court expires next January and it is expected he can have the league endorsement if he desires it. Judge M. J. Engle of Valley City, who was a candidate last year, will have his name in the convention.

District Judges Thomas Pugh and H. Berry were endorsed for reelection at the Dickinson convention of the Stark county league. Mrs. Minnie Craig, Wells county, the only woman leagueur in the last legislature, was endorsed for reelection as was J. H. Burkhardt of Ward, a league floor man in the house. The Griggs county delegation voted to put the name of Gerald Nye on the ballot for Congressman, Second district.

Heroes Both — Dad and Son Won Medals in Same Spot

THOMAS J. FERNS (LEFT) AND HIS SON, TOMMY, JR., BOTH HEROES.

By NEA Service.
Hobokenville, Mass., Jan. 25.—Tommy Ferns, Jr., emerged a hero from the same old swimming hole that made his father, Thomas J. Ferns, famous here 23 years ago. Tommy saved the life of Phillip Jennella, a playmate, who was drowning in Ten Mile River. Twenty-three years ago Thomas, Sr., received a medal for rescuing Agnus (nicknamed) from drowning in the same river in practically the same spot. And now little Tommy has just been presented with a gold medal and the plaudits of the townsfolk in a public demonstration. "A clip of the old black in his hero role," commented Mayor Sweeney as he pinned the medal on Tommy. Young Jennella, whom Tommy rescued, was so tickled he asked his mother to give him his clothes and toys to Tommy. "For," said he "if Tommy hadn't save me I wouldn't have had any use for them anyhow."

POLICE HOLD RELATIVE OF MRS. GUNNESS

Charged with Bigamy; Case of LaPorte 'Murder Farm' Is Recalled

Chicago, Jan. 25. Adolph Gunness, 25, nephew of Mrs. Belle Gunness, up on whose farm at LaPorte, Indiana, the remains of ten suitors were found in 1908, has been brought here to face trial on charges of bigamy. He was arrested in Madison, Wis., on a warrant sworn out by a nurse. Gunness himself made the statement that Belle Gunness, believed to have perished with her three children when her home burned near LaPorte on April 28, 1908, was his aunt, according to the police. Gunness was arrested Wednesday. He is said to have been virtually without funds although his second wife, Mrs. Anna Surpass Gunness, who says he married her July 20, 1923, alleged that he decamped with $1,400 of her money. He was shell-shocked and gassed during the world war and while in the Speedway hospital here as a ward of the Veterans Bureau met Anna Firpe, an employee of the bureau. Mrs. Firpe Gunness said she later learned he had "sworn" in Wisconsin to whom he was married on January 20, 1920, and from whom he has not been divorced. The burning of the Gunness home resulted in the finding of the charred remains of three children and a woman, believed to have been those of the children and their mother. The story of the disappearance of several men who had visited the Gunness farm led to the uncovering of 10 skeletons on the place, which became known as the "murder farm." Mrs. Gunness is said to have used Cupid as a lure and advertised in matrimonial bureaus, always stipulating that her prospects should come well supplied with money. The discovery of the bodies was due to the suspicion of John Helgelein of Aberdeen, S. D., whose brother, Andrew had disappeared after going to visit Mrs. Gunness in response to an advertisement. John Helgelein suggested digging the woman's garden with the result that the skeletons were found.

SCANDIA CASES SET FOR MARCH 4

Fargo, Jan. 25.—March 4 has been set as the date for the opening of the cases against the men indicted in connection with the failure of the Scandinavian American bank. The cases will be tried at Grand Forks by Judge W. J. Kneeshaw of Pembina. It is not known what case will be taken up first, but Geo. A. Baker of Grand Forks, special assistant attorney general, said that it likely would be one of the actions involving H. J. Hagen and M. G. Eken on a charge of receiving money in an insolvent bank.

PLAN AID FOR U. S. VETERANS

Washington, Jan. 25.—Appointment of a permanent committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to cooperate with the Veterans Bureau on finding employment for rehabilitated former service men was announced today by Julius H. Barnes, president of the organization.

The committee, which was selected at the request of President Coolidge, will continue the work done by the national chamber by enlisting the support of American business interests in behalf of the rehabilitated veterans.

WOMAN GIVEN JUDGMENT FOR CAR DAMAGE

Mrs. Julia Madden Wins $3,300 Judgment in District Court Today

A jury in district court, reporting today, gave a verdict of $3,300 to Mrs. Julia Madden, whose husband was killed in a little between officers and rum runners near Jamestown in 1921, for damages alleged sustained to a Cadillac car owned by and driven by her husband. Judgment was against Harry B. Dunbar, former state license inspector, and the State Bonding Fund. It carried interest at 6 percent from July 12, 1923 and directed that the state department receive the car. When the rum runners were captured in the battle—two being killed—the Madison car was confiscated. Mrs. Madden, who lived in Sioux City, Iowa, asserted the car belonged to her. She claimed that Dunbar and others in his department drove it and took parts from it, virtually ruining it. She sued for about the full value of the car, which now is in storage.

SENTENCES WOMAN TO HANG

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 25.—Mrs. Ida Hughes today was sentenced to be hanged on Saturday, March 14 following her conviction by a jury here last night of the murder of her mother-in-law Mrs. C. M. Hughes. She made no statement prior to sentencing being pronounced by Judge G. H. Howard.

BANK TAKEN OVER

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 25.—The Commercial and Savings Bank of Sioux Falls, a state institution with deposits on Dec. 31 of $900,000, was taken over by the state banking department this morning because of heavy withdrawals and depleted reserve.

CORN SHOW ON WHEELS MAY BE NEW STEP HERE

Suggested That Exhibits at State Show Be Sent Into States to South

TO BE ANNUAL AFFAIR HELD MOST FEASIBLE

Success of First Corn Show, Assumes Annual Exhibit in Bismarck

A state exhibit may be created from the prize winners in the first North Dakota State Corn Show, which closed here last night, to carry the concrete evidence that North Dakota is in the corn belt to other states.

The committee in charge of the show, state officials and other agricultural extension advocates here today were seeking to evolve a plan along this line, while the exhibits were being preserved for such use. The proposals include that a railroad car be obtained, filled with corn exhibits and sent into Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska and Illinois to advertise North Dakota. It also has been suggested that the exhibit be put on wheels to be shown in every part of North Dakota, to convince all "doubting Thomases" in this state of the ability of producers of corn.

One of the outstanding facts of the show, according to officials, was that every part of North Dakota was represented in the prize awards and that every section of the state proved that it could raise fine corn. Prejudice existing against the northern tier of counties resting on the Canadian border was dispelled by the fine exhibits of Rollette and Bottineau counties, while Red River Valley counties and the western sections of the state exhibited remarkably fine corn.

Agitation also followed for the building of a corn palace, which would be a constant advertisement of the state's entrance into corn raising on a large scale.

A New Pathway
"Today North Dakota blazes a new pathway in the march toward diversification of farm crops," Commissioner of Agriculture J. M. Devine declared, announcing that the immigration department would in its work of attracting settlers to the state stress North Dakota's corn raising ability.

Fact of corn raising in this section of the state is seen in the report of the Missouri River division of the Soo railroad. Shipments of livestock fell off heavily in the late fall months from previous years, but shipments in January far exceeded January of a year ago, and reports from agents are to the effect that the increase will be even greater in February and March. This, according to officials, means that instead of shipping "feed" cattle to market, farmers are fattening their livestock on corn, with the result that the sale price of the cattle will be greatly increased.

The success of the corn show here having far exceeded the expectations of members of the committee in charge, discussion already is rife toward plans for greatly enlarging the show next year. That the corn show will be an annual event in Bismarck is held a certainty.

At the institute held yesterday afternoon at the Rialto theater a resolution thanking Chairman George Will and members of the various corn show committees and Secretary, Bradley of the Association of Commerce, was passed. O. E. Anderson, of the Anderson Lumber Company, has received many congratulations.

REBELS DRIVE FEDERALS OUT OF RAIL TOWN

Take Possession of Silac, 25 Miles From Celaya, Radio Report Says

Vera Cruz, Jan. 25.—(By radio via the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.) Jan. 25.—Rebel forces have taken possession of Silac, a railway town about 25 miles northwest of Celaya, and have occupied railroad stations at San Francisco and Piedras, state of Jalisco, says a rebel communique issued here.

In the action at Silac the insurgents captured abundant supplies of ammunition, rifles and also took prisoners.

The U. S. S. Omaha and six destroyers anchored off Vera Cruz yesterday obtained permission to enter the bay.

"The warships," continued the communique, "expect to remain here for their trip which began at the Panama Canal zone."

FLAX POOL TO HANDLE WORLD CROP PLANNED

Walter Reed Outlines Proposal Before State Farm Bureau Federation

HELD MOST FEASIBLE

North Dakota Can Influence Flax Market Easier Than Any Other, He Says

Fargo, Jan. 25.—The organization of a flax pool and with the avowed purpose of controlling the marketing of the flax crop of the United States was proposed by Walter H. Reed, Fargo, director of the North Dakota Farm Bureau Federation, in an address here today. First steps in the organization of such a pool are expected to be taken before final adjournment of the convention.

In laying the proposal before the convention Mr. Reed gave an exhaustive presentation of figures dealing with the production and marketing of flax and asserted that the co-operative marketing of flax, from the standpoint of North Dakota conditions, was a more feasible proposition than the co-operative marketing of any other product.

Charles Morgan, director of the North Dakota Potato Growers Exchange, now being organized, also gave an address dealing with the co-operative marketing of flax. Mr. Reed, in discussing the flax pool, cited figures which he said the flax crop would be easy to pool and control and he added that such a pool was necessary in that the American flax may get protection of the American tariff of 40 cents a bushel.

RUSS RENAME CITY, PAYING LENINE HONOR

Old Capital Will in The Future Be Known As Lenineograd

Moscow, Jan. 25.—(By the T. P. Moscow) The mourning at the death of Lenin, prolonged a day by the postponement of the funeral services from tomorrow to Sunday, has become a vast and solemn spectacle.

Countless thousands, many from distant villages passed from distant chambers where the body lies in state, glanced at the face and then filed out into the cold perhaps to walk a dozen miles to the little outlying village from where their pilgrimage began.

Honored by the state in having the capital of old Russia renamed Leninegrad in his memory the dead premier is receiving the homage of Communists in other cities and countries of Europe, many of whom are expected for the obsequies.

Moscow is in deep mourning. The theaters and motion pictures are closed and although the newspapers have reopened they are bordered with black.

The number of those passing the body of the premier reached the 400,000 mark this afternoon. Probably more intimate details of Lenin's anatomy are being published than any other figure in history. The complete report of the autopsy is given and pictures are published and incidentally showing the bullet fired by Mrs. Fanny Kaplan in 1918 which lodged in the left shoulder blade. There are no indications that the bullet had anything to do with the premier's death, which it is established, was caused by arterio sclerosis.

ON THE JOB

Former Senator Frank Kellogg, now ambassador to Great Britain from the United States, is shown here at his desk in London. He's on the job, folks!

NEGRO ASKS HEAVY DAMAGE

Washington, Jan. 25. D. M. Crosby, a negro physician of Detroit, today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for an award of $120,000 from the Pullman company and a number of southern railroads on the ground that they damaged him by confining him to "Jim Crow" coaches and by refusing him sufficient facilities in his travels during 1923.

MELLON SAYS HIGH SURTAX INCOME LESS

Secretary of Treasury Renews Defense of His Plan in New Letter

Washington, Jan. 25.—While Republican house members were considering a proposal today to draft a tax bill of their own, using the Mellon plan as a basis, Secretary Mellon renewed his defense of his proposal in another open letter to Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan.

In his last letter to the secretary the Michigan Senator has challenged the secretary to tell the country what effect the Mellon plan would have on his own personal taxes. The reply did not mention that subject, but instead again inquired whether the present high surtax rates had not impelled Mr. Couzens to invest a large part of his wealth in tax exempt securities.

Mr. Mellon also disregarded Senator Couzens' challenge to a joint debate on the Mellon plan.

"Your case is not unique," the secretary wrote. "There are many other men in similar situations. Your case is of interest solely as an illustration."

Mr. Mellon emphatically denied he had abandoned his proposition that high surtaxes were becoming less productive. Mr. Couzens' statement to that effect, the secretary said, seemed to be conclusion arrived at by some "unique process of thinking which the treasurer had found himself unable to understand."

COLD WAVE HITS CHICAGO

City Shivers There While Temperature Drops

Chicago, Jan. 25.—The Aaskan cold wave reached Chicago today in its southeastern progress with temperature below zero last night in Minnesota and northwestern into Canada and a cold wave was predicted for this section today. A storm centering over Lake Ontario brought winds with gale force over the lake region and precipitation over the western half of the country, with heavy rains reported from portions of the south. The temperature fell rapidly in Chicago from the freezing point and still was declining during the morning with zero or sub-zero temperatures expected tonight.

RADICALS IN MINERS' BODY PUT ON 'TRIAL'

Discussed Before International Convention at Meeting in Indianapolis

APOLOGY IS DEMANDED

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—(By the A. P.)—Demand that three insurgents, William Z. Foster of Chicago, Duncan McDonald of Springfield, Ill., and Thomas M. Myeracough of Pittsburgh, Pa., be given a hearing by the United Mine Workers and a chance to answer charges against them were before the miners' convention at the opening of its fourth day here this morning. Duncan McDonald, editor of "The Industrial Review" at Springfield, Ill., and former president of the Illinois Miners, was to be discussed first. A resolution sent by a local delegate at Harlan, Kentucky, demanded that the international require an apology from Mr. McDonald and ask district officers at Pennsylvania to expel him from the union. In his last letter to the secretary the Michigan Senator has challenged the secretary to tell the country what effect the Mellon plan would have on his own personal taxes. The reply did not mention that subject, but instead again inquired whether the present high surtax rates had not impelled Mr. Couzens to invest a large part of his wealth in tax exempt securities.

BUTLER TELLS LIEUTENANTS TO GET BUSY

Have Not Cleaned Out Districts as They Claimed. Police Head Says

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 25 The third 48-hour police drive against vice and crime in this city started today under the direction of General S. D. Butler, director of public safety.

The police swung into action after the director had held a conference with 42 lieutenants. General Butler announced he had told them there was to be "no more fooling" as he knew they had not "cleaned their districts as thoroughly as they had reported."

"Hundreds of joints," he said, supposedly closed have been operating openly in daylight, and this is going to be stopped at once. I told the lieutenants if they couldn't do what I wanted the police force would be too hot a place for them."

Speculation was rife among the rank and file of the force over an intimation of General Butler that he was going "to spring a great surprise."

"I won't say what it is but when it comes someone is going to get a terrible shock," he said.

Latitude is said to have been first determined by Hipparchus of Nice, about 162 B. C.

START SEARCH FOR FARMER OF SOLEN TERRITORY WHO VANISHED

Acting upon the request of Mrs. Minnie Frederick of Chicago, States today began investigation relative to the disappearance of Henry Roomstead, a bachelor farmer, aged 44, who disappeared in April, 1923. The disappearance had never been reported to the county officials until Mrs. Frederick today returned from money in the Solen bank.

DOHNEY STORY SENSATION IN DOME INQUIRY

Oil Man's Loan of $100,000 to Former Secretary of Interior, Is Bombshell

FALL SAYS HE'S ILL

Will Appear Before Senate Committee Later, However. To Answer Questions

Washington, Jan. 25.—(By the A. P.)—Albert B. Fall was back in Washington today under a subpoena to appear for examination by a senate investigating committee before which the sensational disclosure was made yesterday by E. L. Dohney, California oil magnate, that he had loaned the former Interior Secretary $100,000 in cash on his personal note which remained unpaid.

The time of the loan was fixed by Mr. Dohney as November 30, 1921, or some months before Mr. Fall signed the lease which gave the Dohney interests control over the Naval Oil Reserve in Elkhills, California. The purpose he said, was to enable Mr. Fall to purchase additional ranch property in New Mexico and he was emphatic that it was a purely personal loan. Mr. Fall had been summoned for examination today but at his request, because of his physical condition, his appearance has been deferred until Monday.

On his arrival here late last night from New Orleans he declined to discuss Mr. Dohney's testimony or to make any other statement than that he was a "back man." Appearing before the committee as a voluntary witness, Mr. Dohney exploded a bombshell almost at the beginning of a carefully prepared statement in which he argued vigorously against any construction that the personal loan to Secretary Fall had any connection with the subsequent award to his company of government oil contracts. Mr. Dohney through his counsel, Sabin McNab, proposed to the committee that the company would recover to the government all interest in the contract if a board of experts, to be named by the expert, should find that they were "not wise, desirable and advantageous for the government to make such a loan. If the government could have obtained."

The date of the loan was given by Mr. Dohney in his testimony yesterday. November 30, 1921, or more than a year before Secretary Fall signed the contract leasing to Dohney interests the California naval oil reserves out of which committee-men reminded Mr. Dohney he has testified he expects to make a profit of $100,000,000.

Mr. Dohney declared to the committee, however, that the loan had "no relation to any of the subsequent transactions" that it was made by him "personally" and that "in connection with this loan there was no discussion between Mr. Fall and myself as to any contract whatever."

"The transaction" themselves "in the order in which they occurred," Mr. Dohney said, "involved no contention that they were influenced by my making a personal loan to a lifelong friend."

The oil magnate testified that he had advanced the money to enable Mr. Fall to enlarge his New Mexico ranch holdings and that he had fully intended to collect the loan if Mr. Fall's death remained good and that, if necessary, he had planned to employ the former secretary to look after the Mexican holdings so as to enable him to repay the debt.

Still Unpaid
Responding to questions on cross examination, Mr. Dohney said the note sent him by Mr. Fall was unpaid; that it bore no interest rate, and that no interest had been paid on it. He said he had drawn a check for the $100,000 on a New York bank and that his son had taken the cash from New York to Washington, receiving in return the note, which he thought was in Mr. Fall's handwriting.

The witness was unable to produce either the note or the check, although he said he had conducted a search for them before leaving Los Angeles. He declared they were not lost and possibly were in New York. He was excused after three hours on the witness stand with the understanding that he would endeavor to find the note and check for the committee.

Against Fall's Statement
Mr. Dohney's testimony today exploded into what already has developed into one of the most sensational investigations conducted by a congressional committee in recent years. In view of it, Mr. Fall will be questioned when he appears before the committee.

been reported as willing to take this nomination. All members of the railroad commission are expected to be re-nominated by the league. All it is understood, are willing to accept the nomination. Commissioner of Insurance S. A. Olsen has declined to make any statement of his attitude. The term of Chief Justice
H. A. Bronson of the supreme court expires next January and it is expected he can have the league en-

M. J. Engler of Valley City, who was a candidate last year, will have fading in the convention.

District Judges Thomas Pugh and H. L. Berry were endorsed for rement that Belle Gunness, believed to have perished with her three children when her home burned near LaPorte on April 28, 1908, was his aunt, according to the police.

Gunness was arrested Wednesday.
He is said to have been virtually without funds although his second wife, Mrs. Anna Surpass Gunness, who says he married her July 20, 1923, alleged that he decamped with $1,400 of her money. He was shell-shocked and gassed during the world war and while in the Speedway hospital here as a ward of the Veterans Bureau met Anna Fipps, an employe of the bureau. Mrs. Fipps Gunness said she later learned he had a wife in Wisconsin to whom he was married on January 20, 1920, and from whom he has not been divorced.
The burning of the Gunness home resulted in the finding of the charred remains of three children and a woman, believed to have been those of the children and their mother.
The story of the disappearance of several men who had visited the Gunness farm led to the uncovering of 10 skeletons on the place, which became known as the "murder farm."
Mrs. Gunness is said to have used Cupid as a lure and advertised in matrimonial bureaus, always stipu-lating that her prospects should come well supplied with money.
The discovery of the bodies was due to the suspicion of John Helgelein of Aberdeen, S. D., whose brother, Andrew had disappeared after going to visit Mrs. Gunness in response to an advertisement. John Helgelein suggested digging the woman's garden with the result that the skeletons were found.

SCANDIA CASES
SET FOR MARCH 4

Fargo, Jan. 25.—March 4 has been set as the date for the opening of the cases against the men indicted in connection with the failure of the Scandinavian American bank. The cases will be tried at Grand Forks by Judge W. J. Knoeshaw of Pembina.
It is not known what case will be taken up first, but Geo. A. Bangs of Grand Forks, special assistant attorney general, said that it likely would be one of the actions involving H.
J. Hagen and N. G. Eggen on a charge of receiving money in an insolvent bank.

PLAN AID FOR
U. S. VETERANS

Washington, Jan. 25.—Appointment of a permanent committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to cooperate with the Veterans Bureau on finding employment for rehabilitated former service men was announced today by Julius H.
Barnes, president of the organization.
The committee, which was selected at the request of President Coolidge, will continue the work done by the national chamber by enlisting the support of American business interests in behalf of the rehabilitated veterans.

WOMAN GIVEN
CAR DAMAGE

Mrs. Julia Madden Wins
$3,300 Judgment in District Court Today

A jury in district court, reporting today, gave a verdict of $3,300 to Mrs. Julia Madden, whose husband was killed in a battle between officers and run runners near Jamestown in 1921, for damages alleged sustained to a Cadillac car owned by her and driven by her husband. The judgment was against Harry B. Dunbar, former state license inspector, and the State Bonding Fund. It carried interest at 6 percent from July 12, 1923 and directed that the state department receive the car.
When the run runners were captured in the battle—two being kiled—the Madden car was confiscated.
Mrs. Madden, who lived in Sioux City, Iowa, asserted the car belonged to her. She claimed that Dunbar and others in his department drove it and took parts from it, virtually ruining it. She sued for about the full value of the car, which now is in storage.

lowing her conviction by a jury here last night of the murder of her mother-in-law, Mrs. C. H. Hughes.
She made no statement prior to sentence being pronounced by Judge G.
H. Howard.

BANK TAKEN OVER

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 25.—The Commercial and Savings Bank of Sioux Falls, a state institution with deposits on Dec. 31 of $900,000, was taken over by the state banking department this morning because of heavy withdrawals and depleted reserve.

CORN SHOW ON WHEELS MAY BE NEW STEP HERE

Suggested That Exhibits at State Show Be Sent Into States to South

TO BE ANNUAL AFFAIR

Success of First Corn Show, Assumes Annual Exhibit in Bismarck

A state exhibit may be created from the prize winners in the first North Dakota State Corn Show, which closed here last night, to carry the concrete evidence that North Dakota is in the corn belt to other states.

The committee in charge of the show, state officials and other agricultural extension advocates here today were seeking to evolve a plan along this line while the exhibits were being preserved for such use.
The proposals include that a railroad car be obtained, filled with corn exhibits and sent into Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska and Illinois to advertise North Dakota. It also has been suggested that the exhibit be put on wheels to be shown in every part of North Dakota, to convince all "doubting Thomas" in this state of the ability of producers of corn.

One of the outstanding facts of the show, according to officials, was that every part of North Dakota was represented in the prize awards, and that every section of the state proved that it could raise fine corn.
Prejudice existing against the northern tier of counties resting on the Canadian border was dispelled by the fine exhibits of Rolette and Bottineau counties, while Red River Valley counties and the western sections of the state exhibited remarkably fine corn.

Agitation also followed for the building of a corn palace, which would be a constant advertisement of the state's entrance into corn raising on a large scale.

A New Pathway
"Today North Dakota blazes a new pathway in the march toward diversification of farm crops," Commissioner of Agriculture J. M. Devine declared, announcing that the immigration department would in its work of attracting settlers to the state, North Dakota's corn raising ability.

Evidence of the far-reaching effect of corn raising in this section of the state is seen in the report of the Missouri River division of the Soo railroad. Shipments of livestock fell off heavily in the late fall months from previous years, but shipments in January far exceeded January of a year ago, and reports from agents are to the effect that the increase will be even greater in February and March. This, according to officials, means that instead of shipping "feeder" cattle to market farmers are fattening their livestock on corn, with the result that the sale price of the cattle will be greatly increased.

The success of the corn show here having far exceeded the expectations of members of the committee in charge, discussion already is afoot to plan for greatly enlarging the show next year. That the corn show will be an annual event in Bismarck is held a certainty.

At the institute held yesterday afternoon at the Rialto theater a resolution thanking Chairman George Will and members of the various corn show committees and Secretary Bradley of the Association of Commerce, was passed. O. E. Anderson, of the Anderson Lumber Company, has received many congratulations.

REBELS DRIVE
FEDERALS OUT OF RAIL TOWN

Take Possession of Silao, 25
Miles From Celaya, Radio Report Says

Vera Cruz, Jan. 25.—(By radio via the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram), Jan. 25.—Rebel forces have taken possession of Silao, a railway town about 25 miles northwest of Celaya, and have also occupied railroad stations at San Francisco and Pedrito, state of Jalisco, says a rebel communique issued here.

In the action at Silao the insurgents captured abundant supplies of ammunition, rifles and also took prisoners.
The U. S. S. Omaha and six destroyers anchored off Vera Cruz yesterday obtained permission to enter the bay.

"The warships," continued the communique, "expect to remain here for one or two days and then resume their trip which began at the Panama Canal zone."

FLAX POOL TO HANDLE WORLD
CROP PLANNED

Walter Reed Outlines Proposal Before State Farm Bureau Federation

North Dakota Can Influence
Flax Market Easier Than Any Other, He Says

Fargo, Jan. 25.—The organization of a flax pool and with the avowed purpose of controlling the marketing of the flax crop of the United States was proposed by Walter R.
Reed, Fargo, director of the North Dakota Farm Bureau Federation, in an address here today. First steps in the organization of such a pool are expected to be taken before final adjustment of the convention.

In laying the proposal before the convention Mr. Reed gave an exhaustive presentation of figures dealing with the production and marketing of flax and asserted that the cooperative marketing of flax, from the standpoint of North Dakota conditions, was a more feasible proposition than the cooperative marketing of any other product.

Charles Morgan, director of the North Dakota Potato Growers' Exchange, now being organized, also gave an address dealing with the cooperative marketing of flax.

Mr. Reed, in discussing the flax pool, cited figures which he said the flax crop would be easy to pool and control and he added that such a pool was necessary in that the American flax must get protection of the American tariff of 40 cents a bushel.

RUSS RENAME
CITY, PAYING LENINE HONOR

Old Capital Will in The Future Be Known As Lenineograd

Moscow, Jan. 25.—(By the A. P.)— Moscow's mourning at the death of Lenine, prolonged a day by the postponement of the funeral services from tomorrow to Sunday, has become a vast and solemn spectacle.
Countless thousands, many from distant villages of passed from distant chambers where the body lies in state, glanced at the face and then filed out into the cold perhaps to walk a dozen miles to the little outlying village from where their pilgrimage began.

Honored by the state in having the capital of old Russia renamed Leninegrad in his memory the dead premier is receiving the homage of Communists in other cities and countries of Europe, many of whom are expected for the obsequies.

Moscow is in deep mourning. The theaters and motion pictures are closed and although the newspapers have reopened they are bordered with black.

The number of those passing the body of the premier reached the 400,000 mark this afternoon. Probably more intimate details of Lenine's anatomy are being published than any other figure in history. The complete report of the autopsy is given and pictures are published and incidentally showing the bullet fired by Mrs. Fanny Kaplan in 1918 which lodged in the left shoulder blade.
There are no indications that the bullet had anything to do with the premier's death, which it is established, was caused by arterio sclerosis.

NEGRO ASKS
HEAVY DAMAGE

Washington, Jan. 25.—D. M. Cross-by, a negro physician of Detroit, today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for an award of $120,000 from the Pullman company and a number of southern railroads on the ground that they damaged him by confining him to "Jim Crow" coaches and by refusing him sufficient facilities in his travels during 1923.

MELLON SAYS
HIGH SURTAX INCOME LESS

Secretary of Treasury Renews Defense of His Plan in New Letter

Washington, Jan. 25.—While Republican house members were considering a proposal today to draft a tax bill of their own, using the Mellon plan as a basis, Secretary Mellon renewed his defense of his proposal in another open letter to Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan.

In his last letter to the secretary
the Michigan Senator has challenged the secretary to tell the country what effect the Mellon plan would have on his own personal taxes. The reply did not mention that subject, but instead again inquired whether the present high surtax rates had not impelled Mr. Couzens to invest a large part of his wealth in tax exempt securities.

Mr. Mellon also disregarded Senator Couzens' challenge to a joint debate on the Mellon plan.

"Your case is not unique," the secretary wrote. "There are many other men in similar situations. Your case is of interest solely as an illustration."

Mr. Mellon emphatically denied he had abandoned his proposition that high surtaxes were becoming less productive. Mr. Couzens' statement to that effect, the secretary said, seemed to be conclusion arrived at by some "unique process of thinking which the treasurer had found himself unable to understand."

COLD WAVE
HITS CHICAGO

City Shivers There While Temperature Drops

Chicago, Jan. 25.—The Alaskan cold wave reached Chicago today in its southeastern progress with temperatures below zero last night in Minnesota and northwestern into Canada and a cold wave was predicted for this section today. A storm centering over Lake Ontario brought winds with gale force over the lake region and precipitation over the western half of the country, with heavy rains reported from portions of the south.

The temperature fell rapidly in Chicago from the freezing point and still was declining during the morning with zero or sub-zero temperatures expected tonight.

Latitude is said to have been first determined by Hipparchus of Nice, about 162 B. C.

START SEARCH FOR FARMER OF SOLE TERRITORY WHO VANISHED

Acting upon the request of Mrs.
Minnie Frederick of Chicago, States Attorney L. H. Conolly of Mandan, today began investigation relative to the disappearance of Henry Roem-stead, a bachelor farmer, aged 44, who disappeared in April, 1923.
The disappearance had never been reported to the county officials until Mrs. Frederick today returned from Solen where her brother had lived and where she had conducted a personal inquiry. The man with whom he lived, Roman Damsky, said he left his farm to go to his own farm for a saddle horse during the high water period last spring and he had never been seen since.
He owned a large farm and had money in the Solen bank.

DOHNEY STORY SENSATION IN DOME INQUIRY

Oil Man's Loan of $100,000 to Former Secretary of Interior, Is Bombshell

FALL SAYS HE'S ILL

Will Appear Before Senate Committee Later, However.
To Answer Questions

Washington, Jan. 25.—
J. W. Zevely, Harry Sinclair's personal attorney, told the Teapot Dome committee today that Mr. Sinclair had loaned $25,000 in Liberty Bonds to Albert B. Fall in June, 1923, three months after Fall resigned from the cabinet.

Washington, Jan. 25.—(By the A.
P.)—Albert B. Fall was back in Washington today under a subpoena to appear for examination by a senate investigating committee before which the sensational disclosure was made yesterday by E. L. Dohney, California oil magnate, that he had loaned the former Secretary of Interior $100,000 in cash on his personal note which remained unpaid.

The time of the loan was fixed by Mr. Dohney as November 30, 1921, or some months before Mr. Fall signed the lease which gave the Dohney interests control over Naval Oil Reserve in Elkhart, California. The purpose he said, was to enable Mr.
Fall to purchase additional ranch property in New Mexico and he was emphatic that it was a purely personal loan. Mr. Fall had been summoned for examination today but at his request, "because of his physical condition," his appearance has been deferred until Monday.

On his arrival here late last night from New Orleans he declined to discuss Mr. Dohney's testimony or to make any other statement than that he was the "kick man." Appearing before the committee as a voluntary witness, Mr. Dohney exploded a bombshell almost at the beginning of a carefully prepared statement in which he argued vigorously against any construction that the personal loan to Secretary Fall had any connection with the subsequent award to his company of government oil contracts. Mr. Dohney through his counsel, Sabin McNab, proposed to the committee that this company allow the government to investigate all interested parties to the loan and a board of experts, to be named by the expert, should find that they were "not wise, desirable and advantageous for the government to make and the very best the government could have obtained."

The date when the loan was given by Mr. Dohney in his testimony yesterday, November 30, 1921, or more than a year before Secretary Fall signed the contract leasing to Dohney interests the California naval oil reserves out of which committeemen Mr. Dohney he has testified expects to make a profit of $100,000,000.

"Just a Loan"
Mr. Dohney declared to the committee, however, that the loan had "no relation to any of the subsequent transactions" that it was made by him "personally and that "in connection with this loan there was no discussion between Mr. Fall and myself as to any contract whatever."

"The transactions themselves, in the order in which they occurred," Mr. Dohney said, "dispose of any contention that they were influenced by my making a personal loan to a lifelong friend."

The oil magnate testified that he had advanced the money to enable Mr. Fall to enlarge his New Mexico ranch holdings and that he had fully intended to collect the loan if Mr.
Fall's death remained good and that, if necessary, he had planned to employ the former secretary to look after his Mexico holdings so as to enable him to repay the debt.

Still Unpaid
Responding to questions on cross examination, Mr. Dohney said the note sent him by Mr. Fall was unpaid; that it bore no interest rate, and that no interest had been paid on it. He said he had drawn a check for the $100,000 on a New York bank and that his son had taken the cash from New York to Washington, receiving in return the note, which he thought was in Mr. Fall's handwriting.

The witness was unable to produce either the note or the check, although he said he had conducted a search for them before leaving Los Angeles. He declared they were not lost and possibly were in New York.
He was excused after three hours on the witness stand with the understanding that he would endeavor to find the note and check for the committee.

Against Fall's Statement
Mr. Dohney's testimony threw a bombshell into what already has developed into one of the most sensational investigations conducted by a congressional committee in recent years. In view of it, Mr. Fall will be questioned when he appears before

RADICALS IN MINERS' BODY PUT ON 'TRIAL'

Discussed Before International Convention at Meeting in Indianapolis

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—(By the A.
P.)—Demands that three insurgents, William Z. Foster of Chicago, Duncan McDonald of Springfield, Ill., and Thomas M. Myerough of Pittsburgh, Pa., be given a hearing by the United Mine Workers and a chance to answer charges against them were before the miners' convention at the opening of its fourth day here this morning.
Duncan McDonald, editor of "The Industrial Review" at Springfield, Ill., and former president of the Illinois Miners, was to be discussed first. A resolution sent by a local delegate at Harlan, Kentucky, demanded that the international require an apology from Mr. McDonald and sub-district officers at Pana, Ill., for "criticizing international officers for taking over district 19" in eastern Kentucky and Tennessee.
"Keep hands off district No. 19, as we feel President Lewis and the executive board are able to handle the situation," the resolution read.
The resolutions committee report concurred in this part of the resolution but not in that part which would demand an apology.

BUTLER TELLS LIEUTENANTS TO GET BUSY

Have Not Cleaned Out Districts as They Claimed.
Police Head Says

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 25.—The third 48-hour police drive against vice and crime in this city started today under the direction of General S. D. Butler, director of public safety.

The police swung into action after the director had held a conference with 42 lieutenants. General Butler announced he had told them they were to be held responsible for as he knew they had not "cleaned their districts as thoroughly as they had reported."

"Hundreds of joints," he said, supposedly closed have been operating openly in daylight, and this is going to be stopped at once. I told the lieutenants if they couldn't do what I wanted the police force would be too hot a place for them."

Speculation was rife among the rank and file of the force over an intimation of General Butler that he was going "to spring a great surprise."</

DAVID COLONY KING'S SON IS FATALLY ILL

Death Result of Sin Only, Is Belief Expressed by Members of Cult

Benton Harbor, Mich., Jan. 25.—Death is the result of sin, according to teachings of "King" Benjamin Purnell, founder and missing head of the House of David colony here, but should his son, Coy, die it would not affect the fate of members of the cult, according to those outside the colony who are familiar with its teachings.

The son now lies in Shiloh House, "capital" of the colony, probably mortally ill.

"But Coy Purnell sinned," says his father's teachings say, for some years ago he married a woman who was not a member of the House of David. Thus in a colony where death is regarded as a disgrace and those who die are buried outside the colony in unmarked graves, unmarked and unremembered the illness of the young man, if it proves fatal, may be taken merely as a substantiation of the teachings of the cult.

Benjamin Purnell has been sought by Michigan authorities for some time on criminal charges brought by former members of the cult in connection with alleged illegal practices in the colony. A sharper watch has been kept by authorities since the son became ill in the belief that the father might return but former members of the colony say this is unlikely. These persons pointed out that an estrangement existed between father and son before the former disappeared from the colony. Only through his mother's intervention, it is said, has the son been permitted to live at the colony.

COULTER PLAN FAVORABLE TO TENANT FARMER

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 25.—The Coulter plan affords the average North Dakota tenant a splendid opportunity to improve his financial condition, according to A. H. Benton, economist and market specialist at the North Dakota Agricultural college. "The average tenant has a small working capital which generally does not exceed $2,000," says Mr. Benton. "Many tenants are farming with less capital than this—even though all of the stock is counted in. With the loan making possible an increase of $1,000 to this working capital the tenant thus increases his capital by 25 per cent and in some cases nearer 50 per cent."

To be eligible for the farm loan advocated by the Coulter plan the borrower must fall into one of the following four classes. A farmer residing upon his own land; a renter operating a contract running at least three years and which provides a workable arrangement with the owner for handling a live stock project; an owner of improved farm land not resident on the land but able to submit suitable contract with renter for the handling of a joint live stock project, and a regularly enrolled member of a standard junior live stock club organized and conducted as prescribed by the Extension department of the state agricultural college.

The owner also gains in working capital through the ability to borrow from this fund, says Mr. Benton, but as his capital is already larger than is that of the tenant his percentage of aid is not so great as is that of the tenant.

FOR FATHER'S COUGH. January is usually one of the coldest months, and brings its share of coughs, colds and hoarseness. Take FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND at the first sign of a cough or cold, as it loosens the phlegm and quickly brings relief to the inflamed membranes of the throat. "Your HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND has done wonders for my father, who had an awful cough," writes Nicolaas Gonzales, Cuero, Texas.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION STRESSED IN U. S. INDIAN SCHOOL AT BISMARCK

$25,000 Annual Appropriation Used to Teach Indian Girls
To Be Useful Citizens—Younger Students Are Said
To Be Exceptionally Eager to Learn

Just west of Bismarck on the bluffs overlooking the Missouri river, stands a federal institution, singular in more respects than one, on a tract of one hundred sixty acres of government land.

This institution is known as "The Indian School" and is maintained by the federal government for the Indian girls, from the four Indian reservations of the state, namely, Berthoud, Fort Totten, Standing Rock and Turtle Mountain. Until two years ago this school was maintained for both girls and boys, but since that time no boys have been permitted to enroll.

Girls are kept here from the time they reach school age until they finish the sixth grade work. This provides them with a very satisfactory working basis of an education and with the work taught along industrial lines they are educated to be useful and efficient American citizens. By an annual appropriation of $25,000, clothing, food, and all maintenance including instruction by well qualified instructors is provided for the Indian girls of the state by the federal government.

Teachers and all instructors are provided through means of the civil service, which has been found to secure a very competent class of instructors for the Indian service is of such a nature that the young and experienced do not care to enter, being to continue. Most positions at the school are held by middle-aged men and women.

Well Housed. A number of very comfortable, modern and well equipped buildings are provided for the comfort of the employees and students at the school. Two years ago the government purchased the former I. P. Baker home and this has been converted into a comfortable residence and office for the superintendent and his family. A main dormitory is so divided that it can readily accommodate the smaller and older girls, which number 114 this year. In this building the main dining room and kitchen are located.

The employees have a separate building used as a dormitory for themselves. The industrial building contains the laundry, sewing room, dairy and bakery. Here the girls are taught the industrial trades which will help to make them efficient citizens in combination with their school room work. There are two employee's cottages, one new, having been built the last year for the married employees. A well equipped dairy barn, carpenter shop, and horse barn complete the list of buildings, except the building used as a school and class room.

Classes are held in this building from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. for five days each week, for all children under

"My wife and children thought I was dying when, after an attack of acute pains in my stomach, I became unconscious. It was right after our Sunday dinner. They say I looked like dead and guess I had a pretty close shave. I had been having more or less stomach trouble and bloating with gas for past two years and could get no permanent help. Talking with a friend about my attack, he advised me to try May's Wonderful Remedy. I have not had any gas or stomach trouble since taking it eighteen months ago." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. der the fourth grade. Children further advanced have classes in the school room but half a day, the rest of the day being devoted to the industrial instruction, along the lines of cooking, sewing, laundry work and other home duties. Two matrons have charge of this part of the educational work. It has been found that these Indian children become very proficient and reliable in the discharging of their duties under this supervision.

Program for Day. The program of a day at the school is as follows: 7 a. m., breakfast, followed by work details until 8 a. m. From 8 to 8:30 work details along the lines of work assigned; 8:30 school details; 11:30 recall bell; 12 m. dinner; 1 p. m. school; 4 p. m. school out; 5 p. m. work details; 5:30 supper.

Three evenings a week an hour of evening study is required. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday being devoted to this, Thursday evening, a motion picture provides entertainment, while Friday evening is devoted to social entertainment and athletic games. Sunday morning all are required to attend some church in the city, preferably the one to which they may belong. The Indians attend the Catholic, Episcopal, Presbyterian and Salvation Army churches of this city. Sunday evening is given over to a strictly non-sectarian assembly in which the employees and students all take part.

Superintendent, C. D. Dickinson, said concerning his experiences in the Indian work, said: "The best side of the Indian is never seen in meeting them. They are of a very reserved nature, being a characteristic of the race. They are much more oriental than occidental in nature."

Mr. Dickinson came here from the Rosebud Reservation in South Dakota three years ago, where he was engaged in the Indian service. He has been in the government employ in the Philippine Islands and Southern United States. His wife is a teacher of the younger children in the school and finds the children especially eager to learn. Mr. Dickinson states that he has never been stationed at any one place long enough to say if this same eagerness may be retained throughout the school period. He does find the older grades lacking this same enthusiasm manifested by the younger tots.

This institution is singular in that unlike other institutions of its kind in the United States, it has never grown to any great extent, but yet maintains an enrollment sufficient to warrant the continuance of the annual appropriation of the federal government.

Mr. Lansing's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation in Kellogg's Bran because "it is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sir:
I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to five different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate caused me to vomit. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Bran. I tried it, as I was trying everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely, Frank Lansing,

A. C. BAND IN CONCERT HERE PLEASES MANY

Director C. S. Putnam Praised Bismarck's Efforts For Juvenile Band

PURPOSE OF VISIT

The "Gold Star" band of the Agricultural college, with Dr. C. S. Putnam as conductor, pleased audiences at the city auditorium yesterday afternoon and last night. The 45 members of the band demonstrated that they comprise one of the best musical organizations in Bismarck. People have had the pleasure of hearing the audiences both in the afternoon and evening were highly appreciative.

Special praise was given to James Stamp, trumpet soloist. Stamp and Byron Hanson in a trumpet and euphonium duo and Stamp, Byerly and Dickey in a trumpet and euphonium trio, drew repeated encores. The program arranged by Dr. Putnam ranged from the most famous and difficult band pieces to light and airy tunes. The A. C. toast song, "The Yellow and the Green," was the last number and everyone in the audience rose in tribute to the North Dakota institution.

Dr. Putnam, who has been conducting the band for 21 years and has developed many fine musicians, in a brief talk explained the purpose of the band. Appreciation of music is one of the finer characteristics of any people, the conductor told the audience. Through the band and its other musical organizations, the A. C. is seeking to inculcate the spirit of music and the ability to produce it, that when the band comes to the city, it will be a credit to the community. ## SORLIE LEADS IN N. P. TALK FOR GOVERNOR

The endorsement of Mr. Sorlie by the Bismarck county committee, however, brought the declaration from him, according to the Bismarck press, that he favors the endorsement of Mr. Sorlie. Mr. Sorlie was defeated by Mayor R. A. Nelson in the Bismarck primary two years ago.

Another development of the convention was the bringing forward of the name of C. S. Fisher as a candidate for state treasurer by the Bismarck county committee.

According to the committee, it is complete from all counties. It is a complete from all counties. It is a complete from all counties.

WARD FARMERS TO DIVERSIFY

Minot, N. D., Jan. 25. Ward county farmers are keenly interested in diversification and changing of farm methods, returns made by 65 representative farmers to questionnaires indicate.

County Agent John Huey sent out ballots asking farmers to indicate what line of work they are most interested in as well as the line of work they want the county agent to carry on.

More farmers favored livestock subjects, such as purchased wire, better feeding methods, tuberculosis eradication and boys and girls club work than any other project mentioned.

Next came soil improvement projects like plowing under sweet clover for green manure and weed control. About equal in importance, as indicated by the ballots, is the problem of small grain and of forage crop production.

The leading crop mentioned on which farmers want assistance was sweet clover. Twenty-seven of the 65 farmers indicated they wanted help on this project or that they are very

WYNN SHOW ON SPECIAL

Spends $700 to Get Into Bismarck on Time

The Ed Wynn show, "The Perfect Fool," which plays at the Bismarck Auditorium tonight, left Glenora this morning on No. 8 after having taken a special train from Billings, Montana, where the show played last night, to Glendive in order to catch a train which would get them into Bismarck the middle of the afternoon.

The show train has three baggage cars and two sleepers, there being more than 75 people in the east. Because of the size of the show many cities on the N. P. route at which shows coming from or going to the coast usually stop, were left off the list. The necessary special railroad transportation to bring the show in here on time cost the company $700, according to the management.

The curtain will rise at 8:15 p. m. Press notices from the large Pacific Coast cities where the show has been playing tell of tremendous crowds. Ed Wynn, one of the most noted stage comedians, has seldom made country-wide tours. The show is a musical revue. Remarkable scenic effects are said to be employed.

The advance seat sale here indicated a crowded house, although some seats were available today.

COULTER PLAN IS FAVORED

Number of Farmers Write They Want Bill to Pass

Many farmers in North Dakota favor the Bismarck-Norbeck $50,000 agricultural loan bill introduced to carry out the Coultter plan of "accelerated diversification." Carl R. Kozitzky, state land commissioner, declared today.

"In carrying out the resolution of the board to require persons who are greatly in arrears on land contracts to diversify if they are given a further extension of time, I have found not a single farmer who objects to the board's order," said Kozitzky. "Every one who has replied has set out that he intends to diversify and several have reported that if the Coultter $50,000,000 loan bill goes through they will diversify even more than they are able to at this time."

Farmers, he said, will sow more corn, millet and clover, raise more turkeys, hogs and milk more cows than ever before. Judging from the tone of replies he has received, Kozitzky said, "One farmer, replying, said: 'I have four cows now. Am raising turkeys and if the $50,000,000 livestock loan bill passes want to buy a few more cows and sheep. Am to plant 20 acres of corn, 30 acres of sweet clover, eight of alfalfa, the rest to small grain.'"

The farmer, whose name was withheld, lives in Towner county.

The committee next Monday regarding his statement of December 27 to the committee, in which he said: "I should be needless for me to say that in the purchase of the Haris ranch or in any other purchase or expenditure I have never approached E. L. Dohney or any one connected with him or any of his corporations nor have I ever received from either of said parties any cent on account of any oil lease or upon any other account whatsoever."

At the same time, Mr. Fall declared in his statement to the committee that he had obtained the $100,000 used in enlarging his ranch from Edward B. McLean, Washington newspaper publisher. Mr. McLean telegraphed the committee from Florida to the same effect, but when examined at Palm Beach later by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, he testified that he had given Mr. Fall checks for $100,000 but they had been returned to him un cashed.

HOUEK TALKS ON LIGNITE CASE

Fargo, Jan. 25. Fargo and Moorhead coal dealers and local lignite coal users are very keenly interested in the fight on lignite freight rates now pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission. Stanley H. Houek, attorney for the North Dakota Coal Operators' association, was assured at conferences in Fargo yesterday.

The traffic bureau of the Fargo Commercial club will represent Fargo at the hearings at Aberdeen and Bismarck on this subject. The hearings will open at Aberdeen on Feb. 20 and will be continued at Bismarck Feb. 25.

Mr. Houek declared that if the coal rates are raised, it would tend to destroy the lignite industry and would result in increased prices on all fuel of North Dakota residents. Some of the Fargo dealers did not believe that this would be the case, maintaining that the prices of soft coal would not be enhanced by removal of lignite competition.

A. C. BAND IN CONCERT HERE PLEASES MANY

Director C. S. Putnam Praised Bismarck's Efforts For Juvenile Band

PURPOSE OF VISIT

The "Gold Star" band of the Agricultural college, with Dr. C. S. Putnam as conductor, pleased audiences at the city auditorium yesterday afternoon and last night. The 45 members of the band demonstrated that they compose one of the best musical organizations Bismarck people have had the pleasure of hearing. The audiences both in the afternoon and evening were highly appreciative.

Special praise was given to James Stamp, trumpet soloist. Stamp and Byron Hanson in a trumpet and euphonium duo and Stamp, Byerly and Dieley in a trumpet trio, drew repeated encores. The program arranged by Dr. Putnam ranged from the most famous and difficult band pieces to light and airy tunes. The A. C. band sang, "The Yellow and the Green," was the last number and everyone in the audience rose in tribute to the North Dakota institution.

Dr. Putnam, who has been conducting a band at the A. C. for 21 years and has developed many fine musicians, in a brief talk explained the purpose of the band. Appreciation of music is one of the finer characteristics of any people, the conductor told the audience. Through the band and its other musical organizations, the A. C. is seeking to inculcate the spirit of music and the ability to produce it, so that when the members go back into the several North Dakota communities from which they came they will be leaders in this respect and contribute to their community life.

He remarked that in the last four years, since the war, there has been a noticeable difference in the quality of musicians coming to the A. C. Twentyseven of the 45 members of the band, he said, are freshmen, who had had some training in their communities, in high schools or community organizations. Their ability when they came to the band reflected the growth of the spirit of music in the state. In this connection Dr. Putnam took occasion to commend the efforts of Bismarck in promoting a juvenile band, and the work of L. C. Sorlien, director of the Bismarck band and High School orchestra.

Dr. Putnam also took occasion to pay his respects to jazz music.

"Ragtime," he said, "is music, but jazz is noise."

The A. C. band left today for Jamestown, where a concert is given before it returns to Fargo.

The concert here was under the auspices of the Bismarck chapter of the American Association of Engineers and when expenses are paid it is expected there will be a neat fund left for the aid of the city juvenile band.

About $100 was realized for the local juvenile band, it was said.

GLENDIVE PLANS FOR CORN SHOW

Glendive, Mont., Jan. 25.—To make Dawson County, Montana, not only the leading corn and hog center of the state is the ambitious program which was outlined at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Glendive Chamber of Commerce. This too, despite the fact that this territory is already recognized as a splendid corn country and also that during the past few years its development in the hog industry has been very great. As a beginning in this movement, the board voted to put up $100,000 in prizes for a corn growing contest. The first prize to consist of $250,000 in cash, the second, $150,000 and the third $100,000, together with amounts ranging down to $10,000 for other winners. The premiums are to be awarded to the best 20 acres of dent corn of any variety grown within the borders of Dawson County. Other merchandise premiums will also be offered and it is probable that establishments who have branches in Glendive and who might be interested in the agricultural development of its trade zone will also be asked to make special donations of farm implements as special premiums.

WARD FARMERS TO DIVERSIFY

Minot, N. D., Jan. 25.—Ward county farmers are keenly interested in diversification and changing of farm methods, returns made by 65 representative farmers to questionnaires, indicate.

County Agent John Husby sent out ballots asking farmers to indicate what line of work they are most interested in as well as the line of work they want the county agent to carry on.

More farmers favored livestock subjects, such as purchased stock, better feeding methods, tuberculosis eradication and boys and girls club work than any other project mentioned.

Next came soil improvement projects for green manure and weed control. About equal in importance, as indicated by the ballots, is the problem of small grain and of forage crop production.

The leading crop mentioned on which farmers want assistance was sweet clover. Twenty-seven of the 65 farmers indicated they wanted help on this project or that they are very much interested in the promotion of that project in the community. Alfalfa seedling also came into prominence with 16 votes out of 65. Rust resistant wheat was prominent with 22 votes and succotash seedling like wheat and flax mixtures commanded 11 votes.

SORLIE LEADS IN N. P. TALK FOR GOVERNOR

(Continued from Page 1) The endorsement of Mr. Baker by the Bonville county committee, however, brought the declaration from him, according to the forum, that he favors the endorsement of Mr. Sorlie. Mr. Baker was defeated by Governor R. A. Nelson in the Republican primaries two years ago.

Another development of the conventions was the bringing forward of the name of C. A. Fisher as a candidate for state treasurer by the Barnes county convention.

According to compilations almost complete from all conventions delegations from at least eight counties are instructed to support Governor LaFollette in the March presidential preference election. The counties listed include Cass, Williams, Sheridan, Ward and Eddy.

CORN SHOW ON WHEELS MAY BE NEW STEP HERE

Special prizes awarded at the corn show follow:

Burleigh County
Best 10 ears corn, dent or flint—Peter Mihm, Bismarck, 1st; Peter Mihm, 2nd; E. A. Lewis, Baldwin, 3rd. First prize, 5 lbs. coffee, 2nd two and half lbs. coffee; third prize, one lb. coffee, offered by Bismarck Food Market.

Best 10 ears any flint corn—Peter Mihm, Bismarck, 1st; Peter Mihm, 2nd; Geo. A. Hughes, McKenzie, 3rd. Prizes, $5, $3 and $2, offered by First National Bank, Bismarck.

Best 10 ears any dent corn—E. A. Lewis, Baldwin, 1st; Peter Mihm, 2nd; John Tait, Bismarck, 3rd. Prizes, $5, $3 and $2, offered by First National Bank, Bismarck.

Special prize offered by F. E. Young, Bismarck, of $5.00 for best 10 ears any dent corn, won by E. A. Lewis, Baldwin.

corn in ranges 72 and 73, townships 136 and 135, ranges 70 and 71, Logan county—Victor Napoleon, 1st; Victor Tegner, 2nd; George Galt, Burnstad, 3rd; George Lubbers, Burnstad, 4th.

Stark County
Best 10 ears corn exhibited from Stark county, flint or dent—Fred Holsner, Lefor, 1st; prize, $10.00 offered by First National Bank, Dickinson.

Corn show prize, most unusual shaped ear—Joseph Bruhn, Bismarck. The special prizes offered by the First National Bank of Taylor for the best corn grown in eastern Stark county will not be awarded until the committee has investigated to find out if the entries judged as winners are included in that territory. Since all Stark county entries were judged, it will only be necessary to eliminate those not qualified to win in this contest, and advance the others.

The Farmers Exchange State Bank of Sanger had offered cash prizes for the best corn from Oliver county, but there were no entries from Oliver county. The offer remains open next year. The Commercial Club of Center sent a fine display of corn, but since all corn was required to be entered in the growers' name prizes could not be awarded.

"NUISANCE TAX" REMOVED
Devils Lake, N. D., Jan. 25.—North Dakota Bottlers' association which ended its convention here by resolution has petitioned the North Dakota representatives in congress to use their influence for the removal of "nuisance taxes" on syrup, carbonic acid gas and on uncarbonated bottled beverages.

J. P. Sell of Bismarck, former secretary of the association, was elected president to succeed Mark H. Richtman of Devils Lake. Other officers elected are vice-president, O. J. Bastrom of Grand Forks; secretary-treasurer, H. P. Williams of Mandan; directors, Mark H. Richtman of Devils Lake; H. C. Koetting of Moorhead, Minn.; finance committee, John Wabber of Wishek; Westley Kogoe of Fargo, and C. N. Buckingham of Minot.

The association selected Bismarck for the 1925 convention.

FALL UPON STICK FATAL
Max, N. D., Jan. 25.—A sharp piece of board, which penetrated her abdomen several inches when she slipped upon slippery ice and fell upon it, proved fatal to Mrs. John Tait, 60, of Max. Peritonitis and pneumonia resulted from the injury. Her husband and several children survive.

WYNN SHOW ON SPECIAL

Spends $700 to Get Into Bismarck on Time

The Ed Wynn show, "The Perfect Fool," which plays at the Bismarck Auditorium tonight, left Glendive this morning on No. 8 after having taken a special train from Billings, Montana, where the show played last night, to Glendive in order to catch a train which would get them into Bismarck the middle of the afternoon.

The show train has three baggage cars and two sleepers, there being more than 75 people in the cast. Because of the size of the show many cities on the N. P. route at which shows coming from or going to the coast usually stop, were left off the list. The necessary special railroad transportation to bring the show in here on time cost the company $700, according to the management.

The curtain will rise at 8:15 p. m. Press notices from the large Pacific Coast cities where the show has been playing tell of tremendous crowds. Ed Wynn, one of the most noted of stage comedians, has sold out country-wide tours. The show is a musical revue. Remarkable scenic effects are said to be employed.

The advance seat sale here indicated a crowded house, although some seats were available today.

COULTER PLAN IS FAVORED

Number of Farmers Write They Want Bill to Pass

"In carrying out the resolution of the board to require persons who are greatly in arrears on land contracts to diversify if they are given a further extension of time, I have found not a single farmer who objects to the board's order," said Kositzky. "Every one who has replied has set out that he intends to diversify and several have reported that if the Coulter $500,000 loan bill goes through they will diversify even more than they are able to at this time."

Farmers, he said, will sow more corn, millet and clover, raise more turkeys, hogs and milk more cows than ever before, judging from the tone of replies he has received. Kositzky said: "One farmer, replying, said: 'I have four cows now. Am raising turkeys and if the $500,000 livestock loan bill passes want to buy a few more cows and sheep. Am to plant 20 acres of corn, 30 acres of sweet clover, eight of alfalfa, the rest to small grain.'"

The farmer, whose name was withheld, lives in Towson county.

ENJOYED A GOOD NIGHT'S SLEEP

"I wish to say that FOLEY PILLS worked O. K. on me in a couple of hours and the pain left me at once. I took a couple of them in the afternoon, went to bed and had a good night's sleep and have slept good ever since," writes Con Thiel, 118 E. Columbia St., Fort Wayne, Indiana. FOLEY PILLS are a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys and will increase their activity. Refuse substitutes.

The committee next Monday regarding his statement of December 27 to the committee in which he said: "It should be needless for me to say that in the purchase of the Harp ranch or in any other purchase or expenditure I have never approached E. L. Dohney or any one connected with him or any of his corporations or Mr. H. P. Sinclair or any one connected with him or his corporations, nor have I ever received from either of said parties one cent on account of any oil lease or upon any other account whatsoever."

At the same time Mr. Fall declared in his statement to the committee that he had obtained the $100,000 used in enlarging his ranch from Edward B. McLean, Washington newspaper publisher. Mr. McLean telegraphed the committee from Florida to the same effect, but when examined at Palm Beach later by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, he testified that he had given Mr. Fall checks for $100,000 but they had been returned to him uncashed.

FOREMAN CALLED.
Albuquerque, Mexico, Jan. 25.—Tom Johnson, foreman of A. B. Elmer's ranch at Three Rivers, New Mexico, left there yesterday for Washington, where he has been subpoenaed as a witness before the senate committee investigating the Teapot Dome lease, according to a report here today.

HOUCK TALKS ON LIGNITE CASE

Fargo, Jan. 25.—Fargo and Moorhead coal dealers and local lignite coal users are very keenly interested in the fight on lignite freight rates now pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission. Stanley B. Houck, attorney for the North Dakota Coal Operators' association, was assured at conferences in Fargo yesterday.

The traffic bureau of the Fargo Commercial club will represent Fargo at the hearings at Aberdeen and Bismarck on the subject. The hearings will open at Aberdeen on Feb. 20 and will be continued at Bismarck Feb. 25.

Mr. Houck declared that if the coal rates are raised, it would tend to destroy the lignite industry and this would result in increased prices on all fuel in the subject. The hearings of the Fargo dealers did not believe that this would be the case, maintaining that the prices of soft coal would not be enhanced by removal of lignite competition.

DAVID COLONY KING'S SON IS FATALLY ILL

Belief Expressed by Members of Cult

Benton Harbor, Mich., Jan. 25.—Death of the son of a prominent member of the "King's Son" cult, according to reports from the House of David colony here, but should his son, David, die, it would not affect the faith of members of the cult, according to those outside the colony who are familiar with its teachings.

The son now lies in Shiloh House, "capital" of the colony, probably "mortally ill," according to reports.

"But," says a member of the cult, "the father's teachings say for some time ago he married a woman who was not a member of the House of David. Thus in a colony where death is regarded as a disgrace and those who die are buried outside the colony, the father's death is regarded as a disgrace and those who die are buried outside the colony. The father's death is regarded as a disgrace and those who die are buried outside the colony."

Benjamin Parrish has been sought by Michigan authorities for some time on criminal charges brought by former members of the cult in connection with alleged practices in the colony. A sharper watch has been kept by authorities since the son became ill in the belief that the father might return but former members of the colony say this is unlikely. These persons pointed out that an estrangement existed between father and son before the father reported from the colony. Only through his father's intervention, it is said, has the son been permitted to live at the colony.

COULTER PLAN FAVORABLE TO TENANT FARMER

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 25.—The Coulter plan affords the average North Dakota tenant a splendid opportunity to improve his financial condition, according to A. H. Benton, economist and marketing specialist at the North Dakota Agricultural college.

"The average tenant has a small working capital which generally does not exceed $2,000," says Mr. Benton. "Many tenants are farming with less capital than this—some as little as $1,000. With the loan making possible an increase of $1,000 to this working capital the tenant thus increases his capital by 25 per cent and in some cases nearer 50 per cent."

To be eligible for the farm loan advanced by the Coulter plan the borrower must fall into one of the following four classes: A farmer residing upon his own land, a renter operating a contract running at least three years and which provides a workable arrangement with the owner for handling a live stock project; or for handling a live stock project; or for handling a live stock project.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION STRESSED IN U. S. INDIAN SCHOOL AT BISMARCK

$25,000 Annual Appropriation Used to Teach Indian Girls
To Be Useful Citizens—Younger Students Are Said
To Be Exceptionally Eager to Learn

Just west of Bismarck on the banks of the Missouri river, stands a federal institution, singular in its purpose, in a tract of one hundred sixty acres of government land.

This institution is known as "The Indian School" and is maintained by the federal government for the benefit of the four Indian reservations of the state, namely, Bitter Lake, Fort Totten, Standing Rock and Turtle Mountain. Until two years ago this school was maintained for both girls and boys, but since that time no boys have been permitted to attend.

Girls kept here from the time they reach school age until they finish the sixth grade work. This provides them with a very satisfactory working basis of an education and with the work taught along industrial lines they are educated to be useful and efficient American citizens.

An annual appropriation of $25,000, covering food and all necessities, including transportation, is provided for the Indian girls of the state by the federal government.

Teachers and all instructors are provided through means of the U. S. Army, which has been found to be a very competent class of instructors for the Indian service is of such a nature that the young and inexperienced do not care to enter, being to continuing. Most positions at the school are held by middle-aged men and women.

A number of very comfortable, modern and well equipped buildings are provided for the comfort of the employees and students at the school. Two years ago the government purchased of the former I. P. Baker home and this has been converted into a comfortable residence and office for the superintendent and his family. A main dormitory is so divided that it can readily accommodate the school and old girls, which number 114 this year. In this building the main dining room and kitchen are located. The employees have a separate building used as a dormitory for themselves. The industrial building contains the laundry, sewing room, dairy and bakery. Here the girls are taught the industrial arts which will help to make them efficient citizens in combination with their school room work. There are two employes' cottages, one new, having been built the last year for the married employees. A well equipped dairy barn, carpenter shop, and horse barn complete the list of buildings, except the building used as a school and class room.

5 Operations—15 years suffering with constipation—Kellogg's Bran restores health

Mr. Langens' case is typical of thousands of others. He found relief from constipation by using Kellogg's Bran. Kellogg's Bran is a food, not a medicine. Nothing but ALL Bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sirs:

I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to five different operations, that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal was followed by an attack. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Bran. I tried it, and as I was trying everything I could hear of, from that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely, Frank Langens, 1305 Jeffrey Ave., Marion, Ind.

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoonsful daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary bran, which is unpalatable. Eat Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumpled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

MR. COOLIDGE'S PLAN
President Calvin Coolidge has on more than one occasion shown a firm resistance to schemes designed to lead the government into the pitfalls of industrial experiments and extravagant class legislation. At the same time the President has not hesitated to urge the full force of the government be exercised in meeting emergencies of its citizens.

"The economic situation in certain wheat growing sections of the Northwest is reaching an acute stage that requires organized cooperation on the part of the Federal government and the local institutions of that territory, for its solution," the President said.

Refunding of past due indebtedness of the farmer in the territories most seriously affected.

Restoration where it would be helpful of impaired capital of banking institutions.

The President made it plain that he was not presenting an all-comprehensive plan for the Northwest, but pointed out means by which he believes emergency relief may be granted.

He urged refunding of past due indebtedness. Some agencies, including many eastern loan agencies which are able to carry the load and have not required faith in North Dakota, are not pressing obligations, but instead are extending them as far as possible. North Dakotans have no lack of faith in the future of their state. Any agency that is able to refund indebtedness may not only aid the state but likely will profit in the long run.

The President endorsed the Coulter $50,000,000 loan bill to enable farmers to diversify their farming. It is an emergency measure. If it were right for the federal government to make seed loans in the Northwest it is right that the proposed loan be made, if it will be effective. Published letters of numerous farmers in the state, declaring their intention to stick to the land and to further diversify if the loan bill passes, is evidence of the possible effectiveness of the measure. It is probably not as unpopular with the farmers as some agitators would have the people believe, though it does smack of an extension of credit which has been harmful in the past.

Measures were directed to sustain banks which are sound but which have had their reserves or capital depleted. This relief is directed more to South Dakota and Iowa than to North Dakota and Montana, for in the former states it is the large institutions which have failed while in the latter two, for the most part, the banks have been small country banks which ought never to have been permitted to open, and the majority of which could not be resuscitated to the benefit of themselves or the people of the state. The far-reaching effort of impairment of large banks in the states to the south is ample warrant for the President directing assistance to them.

To some in North Dakota, who have seen more acute conditions than prevail at present, to those who know that North Dakota passed the peak of her financial depression and difficulties a year ago and is slowly on the mend, it may appear that the President is unduly exercised over the economic conditions. Nevertheless there is comfort for the business men and farmers in the state of North Dakota in the President's message, for the President sees a situation which he believes the government may help remedy and he does not hesitate to put the full force of his great office and personal influence into a plan for prompt aid.

PRECARIOUS BUSINESS

A firm in Pawtucket, R. I., used to have many jobs, running 800 braiding machines. A strip of braid was necessary on long skirts. Short skirts now, and the firm goes into the hands of a receiver.

The most uncertain business in the world is the manufacture of garments for women. That's one reason why women's garments cost so much. Women—or, rather fathers and husbands—pay a tremendous price for "style." A change in fashion, of course, usually comes as a carefully propagandized scheme to sell clothes. So, where one firm loses, others gain.

MORTGAGING FUTURE

Brokers figure that 3603 million dollars worth of new bonds, notes and stocks were issued in the United States during 1923.

We are rapidly approaching the point where our entire national wealth will be mortgaged dollar for dollar by stocks and bonds.

NO LONGER A CURIOSITY

Some years ago, the closed auto was a curiosity. Now more than a third of the cars that come from factories are closed models. Very convenient in bad weather, yes. But the closed car also keeps the passengers from getting plenty of fresh air. And fresh air, after all, was the greatest blessing the auto brought to city folks.

GOLD

Well, we have 48 per cent of the world's gold in the United States now. Our gold stock is over 4247 million dollars, to be exact, in case you're a glutton for statistics.

Nearly everybody's proud of this big gold reserve—though the chief thing it does is keep prices high. The more gold, the less a unit of gold will buy. A few have the gold. Some others have a gold-brick.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

This was the next riddle the Riddle Lady asked in Riddle Land when Nancy and Nick were there:

"One foot that can't walk,
One mouth that can't talk,
One knee that comes and goes,
Room for five pink toes."

"One leg that can't stand,
Wears a collar—a stretchy band,
Funny ribs—up and down,
Trots all over town."

"Each morning eats a meal,
Stuffs like Paddy, mouth to heel,
That's all! Day or night,
Never eats another bite."

"'Cept when Santa brings a treat,
Gives him all he wants to eat,
Just at bedtime, too! A question,
If it gives him indigestion."

"Hasn't any sprinkler nose,
Don't know why it's called a hose,
And never makes a sound!"

"Johnny Dumpling went to bed,
Never took his off, 'tis said,
Must have dreamed he went a-walking in his—"

"That's all!" said the Riddle Lady.
"What is it?"

Everybody was looking at Johnny Dumpling who had come over from Mother Goose Land with his mother. He was looking pretty cross.

"I couldn't help it," he said. "I was too sleepy to take them off."

"Well, you should have been in bed an hour earlier," said the Riddle Lady. "The Old-Show-Woman told me, and she lives next door to you. She makes her children all go to bed right on the dot and your mother has to call you and call you and speak to you over and over again and you keep saying 'yes, mother, in a minute!' And the first thing you know it's 9 o'clock, which is much too late for any child to be going to bed. No wonder you drop off to sleep with half your clothes on. Why, you can't get washed up or teeth brushed or anything."

"Say!" said Daddy Gander, good naturedly. "Is this a riddle party or a lecture, Miss Riddle Lady? Everybody knows the answer now since there has been so much talking."

"I'm sorry," smiled the Riddle Lady. "Let's give Johnny Dumpling the prize. Mister Sandman has it."

"It's a special bag of sleepy sand," said Mister Sandman. "It's called 8 o'clock sleepy-sand and I'm going to let Johnny's mother keep it for him."

VIRGIN ISLAND'S DILEMMA

Heretofore appointment of negroes to office has not been the entire success it might have been. Generally the trouble was with the appointer rather than the appointee. Regrettably, the tendency has been to repay political debts to negro leaders without regard to geography—by giving them office in communities which rejected the appointments.

Which, in a government by, of and for the people is obviously not only stupid, but vicious.

So we can but applaud the act of Secretary of Labor Davis, who, when searching about for somebody to go to the Virgin Islands to find out what was wrong down there, named a commission composed entirely of colored educators, lawyers and business men.

But why not go a step further? A few months ago, dealing with this same subject, we pointed out the political unrest existing in the Virgin Islands over "navy rule."

America's only material interest in the islands—since we lose some $325,000 a year on them—is because of their possible value as a naval base. St. Thomas offers a good port—though some naval critics say there is not too much fresh water—for ships of the American navy.

Why not fence off a short government reservoir down there, and give the rest of the territory over to a civil government under

Why not name another commission, made up, say, of the five presidents of the five leading colored educational institutions in the country, and invite this commission to name a governor thus to be appointed?
The president could, in this way, lay a number of ghosts at one stroke. He would be following American tradition of self-government. He would be giving the colored Virgin Islanders what they seem to want.
And at the same time, he would give proof of his fairness and lessen the tension in certain sections of his own country where colored appointments are forced, willy nilly, upon communities mostly made up of people of another race. St. Louis News.

CONQUERING THE DESERT

The human race, once so hedged about with prohibitions dictated by the unfriendly elements, takes great pleasure in this century in defying the ancient gods of sea, earth and air and tramping over all the forbidden ground it can find. There was no good reason why Peary should have wanted to set his foot on the North Pole except to prove that he could; there was no other reason why Alcock and Brown should have insisted on flying across the Atlantic; if the Shenandoah flies from Alaska to Norway across the Arctic Circle it will be as much for the thrill that comes once in a world history as for scientific or commercial experiment. There is still one mountain to be climbed, but only one.

The Sahara desert was crossed from north to south by caterpillar from north to south by tractor, the caterpillar caravan chose the simple route, mainly hard-pan, easy to negotiate.

The latest expedition, equipped with specially built twelve-wheel Renault cars, chose to cross at the most desolate point, where sand dunes change their position with every storm and the slopes to be ascended stand sometimes at an angle of forty-five degrees. Nevertheless, the crossing, a matter of 186 grinding miles, was accomplished in two days.

Evidently the camel, like the horse, is to be supplanted by the automobile. A few will be kept for atmosphere, doubtless; otherwise the people in the sightseeing buses might be disappointed. But the ship of the desert has been fairly beaten, and he is doomed.—New York World.

LETTER FROM PRISCILLA BRADFORD TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

MR. JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT,
Dear Sir: I have meditated a long time before I have come to the conclusion that I should write you a letter.

Your heart-broken mother showed me the terrible missive you sent her, and after reading it, if you had said nothing about me, I would still say to you that nothing could make it possible for me to link my life with yours.

In my sheltered life I had not dreamed that it was really true that any male creature could be so cruel. I cannot understand why you have mistaken the sweet regard and gentle friendship between myself and your mother as a bid for your favor. Perhaps you will not believe me when I tell you I cannot conceive that such an unfeeling human being could live.

Your mother at the present moment is under the care of a doctor. She has not stopped weeping since she received your letter. She moans and cries all the time.

I am not writing this to elicit any sympathy from you. I am only stating a fact.

I have told her now is the time to cast you off and that if she can believe her maternal emotions in the end she will be much better and live to thank me for this advice.

I hardly know, however, what she is going to do in the future for after the insulting letter you have written about me to her I cannot still stay with her and keep my self-respect.

This decision on my part, I think, is worrying her more than all that you have said to her. However, my resolution is made. I am moving out tomorrow, although the doctor has begged me to stay. He says he will not answer for the consequences if I do.

If your mother passes away because of this, her death will be on your head.

PRISCILLA BRADFORD,
Night Letter to Doctor Ebenezer Knox From John Alden Prescott.
See that Priscilla Bradford leaves my mother's house immediately. I shall install trained nurse if necessary. I shall not cook still with her? If not, see that she has a reliable housekeeper. Let me know immediately if she is in any danger. If I can do anything for her will take next train. Think, however, in her present state of mind I had better stay away. Do everything that is needed.

SYNOPSIS.

At a first night performance in New York, a beautiful young woman attracts attention by rising and leisurely surveying the audience through her glasses. Clavering, a newspaper columnist, and his cousin, Dinwiddie, are particularly interested. Dinwiddie declares that she is the image of Mary Ogden, a belle of thirty years ago, who had married a Count Zattiany and lived abroad. He is convinced this is Mary's daughter, but all efforts to establish her identity prove futile.

Clavering manages to meet her, and she tells him she is the Countess Josef Zattiany, a cousin of Mary Ogden's; that she had married a relative of Mary's husband; that Mary is ill in a sanitarium in Vienna.

He does not believe her story and frankly tells her so. Each is aware of a more than passing interest in the other. Clavering, as time goes on, becoming so distracted over the affair that he goes for over to his friend, Gora Dwight, a successful young novelist, who assures Clavering he is in love with Madame Zattiany.

Clavering walks rapidly toward Mr. Dinwiddie's club. He was in no haste to be alone with himself, although he should have been at his desk an hour ago. But it was time Dinwiddie had some news for him.

The club was deserted as far as he was concerned and he went on to Mr. Dinwiddie's rooms in Forty-eighth Street. There he found his friend in dressing-gown and slippers, one bandaged foot on a stool.

"Gout?" he asked with the calmness of youth. "Wondered why I hadn't heard from you."

"I've tried to get you no less than four times on the telephone."

"When I'm at work I leave orders downstairs to let my telephone alone, and I've been walking a lot."

"Well, sit down and smoke. Standing round makes me nervous."

"Well, they can't do anything to her. She's a right to call herself whatever she likes, and she asks no favors. But I'd like to hypnotize Judge Trent and get the truth out of him. He knows, damn him!"

"He's laying up trouble for himself if he's passing off an impostor."

"I see you've caught it. It's rather odd, isn't it, that this Austrian lady, who has lived her life in Vienna, Society, knows nothing apparently of any young and beautiful Countess Zattiany? I didn't give her a hint of the truth, for I certainly shall not be the one to loose the bloodhounds on this charming young woman, whoever she may be. Told her that I recalled having met a very young and handsome countess of that name in Europe before the war, and wondered what had become of her. . . . But somebody else may let them loose any moment. A good many people are interested in her already."

STAR BAND ENTERTAINED

The Gold Star band of the Agricultural college were guests of the Musicians at a dancing party given at the Masonic Temple last evening, following the concert at the city auditorium.

A splendid crowd of young people were present and the band boys delightfully entertained. About sixty couples enjoyed dancing until a late hour when refreshments were served. The Association of Commerce acted as hosts to the band boys yesterday afternoon and treated them to a ride to the state penitentiary and capitol and about the city. ### AT THE MOVIES

Human Wreckage, Wally Reid Film, To Be Shown

"There is no doubt that Mrs. Wallace Reid is thoroughly conscientious in her work of combating the narcotic evil. If you heard her talk at the Century Saturday you are convinced of that. Her picture, 'Human Wreckage,' is convincing, it is true to life and while it does not attempt to introduce any comedy situations, it holds the attention from first to last." This is a comment made by the San Francisco Bulletin when the picture was shown in that city and which was the first showing to the public anywhere.

The supposition that "Human Wreckage" is entirely a moral lesson might operate to prevent some seeing it. Such supposition would be entirely wrong. The picture is fascinatingly dramatic from beginning to end.

"Human Wreckage" is being shown at the Eltinge theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday under the auspices of the Women's Community Council. Tickets are now being sold by the ladies for the benefit of the school milk fund.

CAPITOL THEATER

"The Drivin' Fool," a screen version of W. F. Sturm's story, featuring Wally Van and Patry Ruth Miller and what is perhaps the fastest six reel comedy ever produced, opened its two-day run at the Capitol theatre last night with flattering results. Wally Van will long be remembered as one of the pioneers of the film firmament who stepped back into the limelight after an absence of more than five years and established a new record for clean, wholesome comedy.

The story tells of what speed-riding can do in the way of saving his father's business from the clutches of crooks by making a record dash in an automobile from California to New York in six days and delivering into the hands of a coveting Wall street concern, $500,000 which said father has been forced to raise in payment of a note or lose control of his business.

"The Drivin' Fool" also contains a bright romance; not one without its trials including parental influences, however, but in the end, after our hero establishes himself as an asset to the firm, we find a pleasing climax.

The remainder of the cast includes such artists of note as Wilton Taylor, Alec B. Francis, Ramsey Wallace, Wilfred North and others.

Dr. C. E. Stackhouse,
Health Officer Bismarck, N. D.

Dear Dr. Stackhouse,

At the suggestion of Mr. Arnot from the Water Office, I am giving you the results of the last bacteriological examination of the city water for publication. Examination started 1.21.24. Finished 1.25.24.

Turbidity 32 parts per million.
Bacteria per cc. 45
No B. Coli in five 10 cc. samples.

Bacteriologically this water passes the standard set by the Amer. Public Health Association for a potable drinking water.

The turbidity, of course is objectionable, but it is no higher than it usually is.

The water is being treated daily with about two lbs. of liquid Chlorine which keeps the bacterial count within the standard of 100 per cc.

In my opinion this water is bacteriologically speaking, safe to drink.

Very truly yours,
A. W. ECKLUND, City Bacteriologist.

(Established 1873)

MR. COOLIDGE'S PLAN
President Calvin Coolidge has on more than one occasion shown a firm resistance to schemes designed to lead the government into the pitfalls of industrial experiments and extravagant class legislation. At the same time the President has not hesitated to urge the full force of the government to be exercised in meeting emergencies of its citizens.

"The economic situation in certain wheat growing sections of the Northwest is reaching an acute stage that requires organized cooperation on the part of the Federal government and the local institutions of that territory, for its solution," the President said.

He urged these steps be taken:
Refunding of past due indebtedness of the farmer in the territories most seriously affected.

Financial assistance through a federal agency to enable wheat farmers to change from a single crop to diversified farming.

Restoration where it would be helpful of impaired capital of banking institutions.

Creation of a financing corporation to assist in the plan of reorganization.

The extension of time during which the War Finance corporation can make loans.

The President made it plain that he was not presenting an all-comprehensive plan for the Northwest, but pointed out means by which he believes emergency relief may be granted.

He urged refunding of past-due indebtedness. Some agencies, including many eastern loan agencies which are able to carry the load and have not required faith in North Dakota, are not pressing obligations, but instead are extending them as far as possible. North Dakotans have no lack of faith in the future of their state. Any agency that is able to refund indebtedness may not only aid the state but likely will profit in the long run.

The President endorsed the Coulter $50,000,000 loan bill to enable farmers to diversify their farming. It is an emergency measure. If it were right for the federal government to make seed loans in the Northwest it is right that the proposed loan be made, if it will be effective. Published letters of numerous farmers in the state, declaring their intention to stick to the land and to further diversify if the loan bill passes, is evidence of the possible effectiveness of the measure. It is probably not as unpopular with the farmers as some agitators would have the people believe, though it does smack of an extension of credit which has been harmful in the past.

Measures were directed to sustain banks which are sound but which have had their reserves or capital depleted. This relief is directed more to South Dakota and Iowa than to North Dakota and Montana, for in the former states it is the large institutions which have failed while in the latter two, for the most part, the banks have been small country banks which ought never to have been permitted to open, and the majority of which could not be resuscitated to the benefit of themselves or the people of the state. The far-reaching effort of impairment of large banks in the states to the south is ample warrant for the President directing assistance to them.

To some in North Dakota, who have seen more acute conditions than prevail at present, to those who know that North Dakota passed the peak of her financial depression and difficulties a year ago and is slowly on the mend, it may appear that the President is unduly exercised over the economic conditions. Nevertheless there is comfort for the business men and farmers in the state of North Dakota in the President's message, for the President sees a situation which he believes the government may help remedy and he does not hesitate to put the full force of his great office and personal influence into a plan for prompt aid.

PRECARIOUS BUSINESS
A firm in Pawtucket, R. I., used to have many jobs, running 800 braiding machines. A strip of braid was necessary on long skirts. Short skirts now, and the firm goes into the hands of a receiver.

The most uncertain business in the world is the manufacture of garments for women. That's one reason why women's garments cost so much. Women—or, rather fathers and husbands—pay a tremendous price for "style." A change in fashion, of course, usually comes as a carefully propagandized scheme to sell clothes. So, where one firm loses, others gain.

MORTGAGING FUTURE
Brokers figure that 3603 million dollars worth of new bonds, notes and stocks were issued in the United States during 1923.
We are rapidly approaching the point where our entire national wealth will be mortgaged dollar for dollar by stocks and bonds.

NO-LONGER A CURIOSITY
Some years ago, the closed auto was a curiosity. Now more than a third of the cars that come from factories are closed models. Very convenient in bad weather, yes. But the closed car also keeps the passengers from getting plenty of fresh air. And fresh air, after all, was the greatest blessing the auto brought to city folks.

GOLD
Well, we have 48 per cent of the world's gold in the United States now. Our gold stock is over 4247 million dollars, to be exact, in case you're a glutton for statistics.
Nearly everybody's proud of this big gold reserve—though the chief thing it does is keep prices high. The more gold, the less a unit of gold will buy. A few have the gold. Some others have a gold-brick.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

This was the next riddle the Riddle Lady asked in Riddle Land when Nancy and Nick were there:

"One foot that can't walk,
One mouth that can't talk,
One knee that comes and goes,
Room for five pink toes."

"One leg that can't stand,
Wears a collar—a stretchy band,
Funny ribs—up and down,
Trots all over town."

"Each morning eat a meal,
Stuffs like Paddy, mouth to heel,
That's all! Day or night,
Never eats another bite."

"'Twas when Santa brings a treat,
Gives him all he wants to eat,
Just at bedtime, too! A question,
If it gives him indigestion."

"Hasn't any sprinkler nose,
Don't know why it's called a hose,
Maybe, cause it's black and round!
And never makes a sound!"

"Johnny Dumpling went to bed,
Never took his off, it said,
Must have dreamed he went a-walking in his—"

"That's all!" said the Riddle Lady.
"What is it?"

"Everybody was looking at Johnny Dumpling when he came over from Mother Goose Land with his mother. He was looking pretty cross."

"I couldn't help it," he said. "I was too sleepy to take them off."

"Well, you should have been in bed an hour earlier," said the Riddle Lady. "The Old-Shoe-Woman told me so and she lives next door to you. She makes her children all go to bed right on the dot and your mother has to call you and call you again and you keep saying 'yes, mother, in a minute!' And the first thing you know it's 9 o'clock, which is much too late for any child to be going to bed. No wonder you drop off to sleep with half your clothes on. Why you can't get washed up or teeth brushed or anything."

"Say!" said Duddy Gander, good naturedly. "Is this a riddle party or a lecture, Miss Riddle Lady? Everybody knows the answer now since there has been so much talking."

"I'm sorry," smiled the Riddle Lady. "Let's give Johnny Dumpling the prize. Mister Sandman has it."

"It's a special bag of sleepy sand," said Mister Sandman. "It's called 8 o'clock sleepy-sand and I'm going to let Johnny's mother keep it for him."

VIRGIN ISLANDS' DILEMMA

Heretofore appointment of negroes to office has not been the entire success it might have been. Generally the trouble was with the appointer rather than the appointee. Regrettably, the tendency has been to repay political debts to negro leaders without regard to geography—by giving them office in communities which rejected the appointments.

Which, in a government by, of and for the people is obviously not only stupid, but vicious.

So we can but applaud the act of Secretary of Labor Davis, who when searching about for somebody to go to the Virgin Islands to find out what's wrong down there, named a commission composed entirely of colored educators, lawyers and business men.

The population of the Virgin Islands is almost entirely colored so Sec. Davis' commission would be strangely appropriate in this era of squeezing square pegs into round holes.

But why not go a step further? A few months ago, dealing with this same subject, we pointed out the political unrest existing in the Virgin Islands over "nary rule."

America's only material interest in the islands—since we lose some $225,000 a year on them—is because of their possible value as a naval base. St. Thomas offers a good port—though some naval critics say there is not too much fresh water for ships of the American navy.

Why not fence off a short government reservoir down there, and give the rest of the territory over to a civil government under

a colored governor appointed by the president?

Why not name another commission, made up, say, of five presidents of the five leading colored educational institutions in the country, and invite this commission to name a governor thus to be appointed?

The president could, in this way, lay a number of ghosts at once. He would be following American tradition of self-government. He would be giving the colored Virgin Islanders what they seem to want.

And at the same time, he would give proof of his fairness and lessen the tension in certain sections of his own country where colored appointments are forced, willfully, upon communities mostly made up of people of another race. St. Paul News.

CONQUERING THE DESERT.

The human race, once so hedged about with prohibitions, dictated by the unfriendly elements, taking great pleasure in this century in defying the ancient gods of sea, earth and air, and tramping over the forbidding ground it can find.

There was no good reason why Peary should have wanted to set his foot on the North Pole except to prove that he could, there was no other reason why Alcock and Brown should have insisted on flying across the Atlantic, if the Shenandoah flies from Alaska to Norway across the Arctic Circle it will be as much for the thrill that comes once in a world history as for scientific or commercial experiment. There is still one mountain to be climbed, but only one.

The Sahara desert was crossed from north to south by caterpillar tractors more than a year ago, but this caterpillar caravan chose the simple route, mainly land-pan, easy to negotiate.

The latest expedition, equipped with specially built twelve-wheeled Renault cars, chose to cross at the worst possible point, where sand dunes change their position with every storm and the slopes to be ascended stand sometimes at an angle of forty-five degrees. Nevertheless, the crossing, a matter of 186 grinding miles, was accomplished in two days.

Evidently the camel, like the horse, is to be supplanted by the automobile. A few will be kept for atmosphere, doubtless, otherwise the people in the deserting buses might be disappointed. But the ship of the desert has been fairly beaten and he is doomed.

SYNOPSIS.

At a first night performance in New York, a beautiful young woman attracts attention by rising and leisurely surveying the audience through her glasses. Clavering, a newspaper columnist, and his cousin, Dinwiddle, are particularly interested. Dinwiddle declares that she is the image of Mary Ogden, a belle of thirty years ago, who had married a Count Zattiany and lived abroad. He is convinced this is Mary's daughter, but all efforts to establish her identity prove futile.

Clavering manages to meet her, and she tells him she is the Countess Josef Zattiany, a cousin of Mary Ogden's; that she had married a relative of Mary's husband; that Mary is ill in a sanitarium in Vienna.

He does not believe her story and finally tells her so. Each is aware of a more than passing interest in the other. Clavering, as time goes on, becoming so distraught over the affair that he goes for advice to his friend, Gora Dwight, a successful young novelist, who assures Clavering he is in love with Madame Zattiany.

Clavering walked rapidly toward Mr. Dinwiddle's club. He was in no haste to be alone with himself, although he should have been at his desk an hour ago. But it was time Dinwiddle had some news for him.

The club was deserted as far as he was concerned and he went on to Mr. Dinwiddle's rooms in Forty-eighth Street. There he found his friend in dressing-gown and slippers, one bandaged foot on a stool.

"Gout?" he asked with the calmness of youth. "Wondered why I hadn't heard from you."

"I've tried to get you no less than four times on the telephone."

"When I'm at work I leave orders downstairs to let my telephone alone, and I've been walking a lot."

"Well, sit down and smoke. Standing round makes me nervous."

"He's laying up trouble for himself if he's passing off an impostor."

Clavering stood up suddenly and looked down on Mr. Dinwiddle. "Well?" he asked sharply.

You look nervous yourself. Been working too hard?"

"Yes. Think of taking a run down to Florida."

"Perhaps I'll go with you. But I've something to tell you. That's the reason I called you up."

"Well?"

"Don't snap my head off. Got a touch of dyspepsia."

"No, I haven't. If you had to turn out a column a day you'd be nervous too."

"Well, take a vacation."

"What have you found out?"

"It took me a week to get in touch with Harry Thornhill, but he finally consented to see me. He's lived buried among books for the last twenty years. His wife and two children were killed in a railway collision."

"What the devil do I care about Harry Thornhill?"

"You're a selfish young beggar, but I would have cared as little at your age. Well—a cousin of his, Maynard Thornhill, did move to Virginia some thirty-five years ago, married, and had a family, then moved on to Paris and remained there until both he and his wife died. Beyond that he could tell me nothing. They weren't on particularly cordial terms and he never looked the family up when he went over. Has Madame Zattiany ever said anything about brothers and sisters?"

"Not a word."

"Probably married and settled in Europe somewhere, or wiped out. You might ask her."

"I'll ask her no more questions."

"Been snubbing you?"

"On the contrary, she's been uncommonly decent. I got rather strung up the last time I was there and asked her so many leading questions that she'd have been justified in showing me out of the house."

"You impertinent young scamp. But manners have changed since my day. What did she tell you?"

"Nothing. I'm as much in the dark as ever. What have you found out about Josef Zattiany?"

"Something, but not quite enough. I met an Austrian, Countess Loyos, at dinner the other night and asked her about the Zattianys. She said the family was a large one with many branches, but she had a vague idea that a Josef Zattiany was killed in the war. Whether he was married or not, she had no idea."

Clavering stood up suddenly and looked down on Mr. Dinwiddle, who was smiling less triumphantly than usually. "Well?" he asked sharply. "Well?"

"I see you've caught it. It's rather odd, isn't it, that this Austrian lady, who has lived her life in Vienna, knows nothing apparently of any young and beautiful Countess Zattiany? I didn't give her a hint of the truth, for I certainly shall not be the one to loose the bloodhounds on this charming young woman, whoever she may be. Told her that I recalled having met a very young and handsome countess of that name in Europe before the war and wondered what had become of her. . . . But somebody else may let the loose any moment. A good many people are interested in her already."

"Well, they can't do anything to her. She's a right to call herself whatever she likes, and she asks no favors. But I'd like to hypnotize Judge Trent and get the truth out of him. He knows, damn him!"

FARGO HIGH INVADES SLOPE

Meets Mandan High Tonight and Bismarck Saturday

The Fargo High School "Midgets" will invade the Slope for two basketball games this weekend. The Fargoites play the Mandan high team tonight and Bismarck Saturday.

The Bismarck game is called at 8 p. m. Saturday. Coach Houser probably will start Capt. Alfson at center, Olson and Serogens at forwards and Shepard and Noddings at guards.

One Fargo sport writer, in a communication to The Tribune, declares that the Fargo high team will be stronger this season than it was last year at the time of the state tournament which, he adds, "is saying quite a bit."

PLANNING ICE HOCKEY TEAMS

Probably Will Get Municipal Rink Set Aside Part of Time

There will be hockey played at the city skating rink Saturday at 2 p. m. and skating races to begin about the same time, J. J. M. MacLeod said this afternoon.

Ice hockey teams probably will be organized in Bismarck.

The municipal skating rink committee will within a few days have final plans for the rink. Chairman L. S. Craswell said today. The matter of organizing teams will be left to players, and it is expected that J. J. MacLeod will be in charge of any organization of teams.

The committee hopes to arrange to set aside use of the rink at certain times for the hockey team. Whether or not the committee will endeavor to provide toboggan slides is uncertain. It has been felt that there has hardly been enough snow thus far, Mr. Craswell said. The committee will meet within the next day or two to consider other matters. There is some money in the treasury but there also is the question of whether or not the money available would be sufficient for this purpose.

The municipal skating rink committee feels that the attendance at the rink, which has reached into the hundreds some nights, is ample evidence of the worth of the effort to provide it.

HIGH SCHOOLS WILL COMPETE AT VALLEY CITY

Fargo, Jan. 25.—Champions of the eight North Dakota districts will compete on March 21 and 22 at Valley City State Teachers college for the basketball championship of North Dakota, according to an announcement made by Harry E. Polk, secretary of the state high school athletic league.

The tournament will be staged in the new gymnasium at the Valley City Teachers college under the direction of Athletic Director L. G. Hest.

The eight men who will take charge of the various district tournaments, and the places for the playing of the tournaments were announced by Mr. Polk, as follows: First district, Fargo; Stanley E. Borlesky; Second district, Jamestown; Karl Erickson; Third district, Mandan; C. L. Love; Fourth district, Dickinson; S. T. May; Fifth district, Grand Forks; Paul J. Davis; Sixth district, Devils Lake; Nelson Sauvain; Seventh district, Minot; C. E. Buhlitz; Eighth district, Bowles; J. Wilson Akers.

The eight teams eligible to compete for the honors in the various districts are selected by district committees, the showing the team has made during the pre-tournament schedules being used to determine the entrants.

Billy Evans Says

"The big problem of today in football is the handling of the crowds that each Saturday flock to the big games all over the country." A prominent eastern coach so expressed himself to me during the football season. I had asked him if there was anything wrong with football as played, my suggestion that he might have, for the improvement of the game.

"The game is all right," continued the coach, "but the increased popularity of the sport has presented a new angle from the college standpoint that must receive some consideration."

A week after talking to the eastern coach I was attending one of the big games in the middle west. I put the question to one of the western coaches. His college is the possessor of one of the big stadiums. I was surprised when he practically concurred with all that the eastern mentor had said on the subject. Unquestionably there is a decided change in the spirit of the crowds

BODY BLOWS HASTENED MISKE DEATH

Prize Fighters Are Richly Paid, But They Pay Heavily in The End

BY JOE WILLIAMS

So you read where Jack Dempsey was paid $500,000 for two fights last summer.

And you think that is a pretty soft way to make money.

Billy Miske thought that way, too. Now Miske is dead at 29. A widow and three children mourn him. A fight which paid thousands to see him fight, gained if not built him, during his 16-year career shrugs a sympathetic shoulder. "Well, he could take it, anyway."

Miske could take it. That's what killed him. Bright's disease, brought about by excessive body punishment. Miske was not a great defensive fighter at close quarters. It was not hard to reach his vital spots.

Three times he fought Dempsey. Twice he went the limit with the great slugger. The third time he was battered to the canvas. Dempsey punished him cruelly with what is known as the kidney punch. So did other fighters for that matter.

Many Fighters Blinded

Few fighters are killed outright in the ring. Now and then a fatality occurs. A punch from Jess Willard killed Bill Young. A punch from Arthur Pelkey killed Luther McCarthy. Others have been killed by wicked blows. But the percentage is small in comparison to the number of fights. It is later on in life that the frightful effects of hand to hand fighting take hold.

Fighting has blinded more men than all other forms of sport combined. Some have lost their vision completely, others have suffered a partial blindness that reduced them to an almost helpless state. Pete Herman, former bantamweight champion of the world, is a recent and pathetic example. His fellow townsman, Joe Mandot, once a great lightweight, is another. Monte Attell, now on the coast, needs a cane and a guide. And these are but a few.

Others Lose Minds

Blindness is not the only penalty the battered-up fighter is subjected to. Nature, outraged, is unrelenting in her tolls. A severe wallop about the head is not calculated to attend a big football game to play compared with a gathering 10 years back. Football has become the national fall pastime just as baseball is the national pastime during the summer months.

A football crowd is no longer a gathering of the old grads and undergraduates of the institutions playing, but rather a crowd made up of the masses, a great many of whom have no college traditions to adhere to when they go to the game. Most of them are there because football is a strenuous sport and they like it.

No longer does a football crowd sit in silence except when called upon by the cheer leader. There is a certain element that persists in giving the athletes the "razz." In the parlance of sport this is known as expressing disapproval when some player or team fails to deliver. It is a very common practice in professional baseball, has been for years, but is new to a football stand point. Then there are the acoustics to be considered. With a crowd of 50,000 in an uproar over some thrilling play it is impossible to give signals that can be heard on the playing field. Unquestionably this condition will eventually lead to the elimination of signal-giving in football.

"The new stadiums have made signal-giving an impossibility," says Zarnke. "I am strong for the huddle. It can be done with less delay than the mere calling of the signals and there is no chance for a mistake as the player in doubt has a perfect right to call for a check on the play." The huddle is certain to solve the acoustic problem, but it is questionable if the action of the crowd can be controlled. If the colleges build stadiums to accommodate the masses, the college athlete must become hardened to the criticism of the critical, just as the professional ball player accepts it.

BILLY MISKE

ed to improve one's sanity. Repeated walloping often destroys it completely.

You read much of "cuckoo" fighters," fighters who have literally been punched silly. There are many of them. Some end their days in asylums, impersonating the Marquis of Queensberry himself.

No, the business of fighting is not an easy game. The money is easy but in the end you pay for it—and pay frightfully.

Stick to your freight elevator, or your job in the boiler factory—

Possibly, you won't become rich or famous, but you will live longer.

Elusive Death
 VIENNA—A young woman afflicted with melancholia threw herself before a train a few miles out of Vienna, but fell between the rails so that the locomotive and 11 trucks passed over her without injuring her. I was her third attempt to destroy herself. She once sprang from a window, 39 feet from the ground, but alighted on some hay on soft earth, being scarcely hurt. A few months ago she leaped over her husband from one of the Vienna bridges, and was promptly fished out.

Literary Revenge
 An unsuccessful candidate at the recent general election has composed a poem on his defeat. Reprisals of this sort are surely not unpardonable. Passing Show (London.)

Spiritual Manifestations
 An American astronomer claims to have discovered five additional moons revolving around our earth. This looks to us like an advertising dodge on the part of a boot-legger. Passing Show (London.)

The Political Pause
 Most of the political band wagons appear to have reached a point in the road where the sign reads "Stop, Look, Listen."—Life.

Within the Law
 "How do you suppose a lawyer measures his fees?"
 "He doesn't."—Life.

TWO USES
 Some of the newest tunics come within four inches of the hem of the skirt and form a tunic as well as a bodice.
